

GEORGE H. BLAHNIK

San Pedro, Calif.

The baby of the class. Former fisherman deluxe from San Pedro. Favorite hobby: shaving. Wishes he had more to shave, though.

George H. Blahnik
unknown newspaper, unknown date

JAMES C. ALEXANDER
East Liverpool, Ohio
The only J. B. who knows Maxwell Field inside out. Left Ohio State U to join cadets. Good man on the basketball court . . . equally as good over the targets.

RALPH H. ANDERSON
Jamestown, N. Y.
Tall and honest Andy was an ad liber par excellence. Formerly an engraver in the Treasury Dept. before enlisting. A nice low C.E. . . too.

FRANCISCO A. AVILA
Orangeburg, N. Y.
Francisco, the speed demon, set as fast a pace on the track as he did on the track.

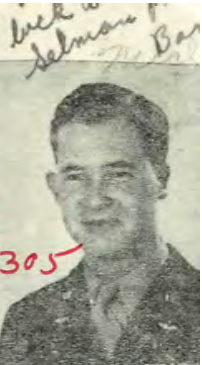

JOSEPH P. BAHNKEN
St. Albans, N. Y.
"Longg Giland" to you, local Irishman. Deadeye on the basketball court. A good in ground school. Has more gum than the PX.

DENNIS BAKER
Arlington, Va.
Can't wait until he returns to Washington, D. C., and resumes normal living with his wife and son. Practical Joke fiend.

ROBERT BARNETT
Aspinwall, Pa.
"Junior." A former art student from Pittsburgh, was afraid of nothing . . . but women! Hopes to revolutionize . . . window designing.

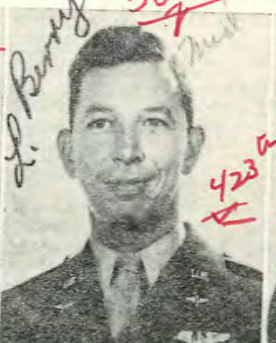

RICHARD C. BARTLETT
Bridgewater, Mass.
Studied navigation at MIT. One jump ahead of us. Quiet, easy going. Dick calls Boston home. Hopes to . . .

ANTHONY F. BARULICH
Bakersfield, Calif.
Atrial when it comes to comparing Florida and California, since he lived in both. Former crew chief in A-20.

JOSEPH R. BERMAN
Brooklyn, N. Y.
Typical civilian of the class. Raced with Bryan for the honor of being the last one out for all formations. "There's no sense in hurrying."

LESLIE BERRY
Wooster, Ohio
Former Wooster College man. Grandfather of the class. Quiet, unassuming, and a good guy to know. Did more than his share of details.

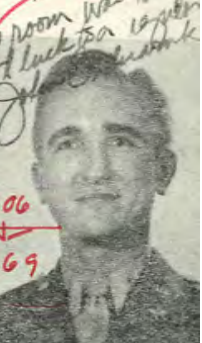

GEORGE H. BLAHNIK
San Pedro, Calif.
The baby of the class. Former fisherman deluxe from San Pedro. Favorite hobby: shaving. Wishes he had more to shave, though.

HYMAN BLOOM
New York, N. Y.
Logged more brown time than flight time. He was always willing to help anyone — smoke their cigarettes. Expert pistol shot.

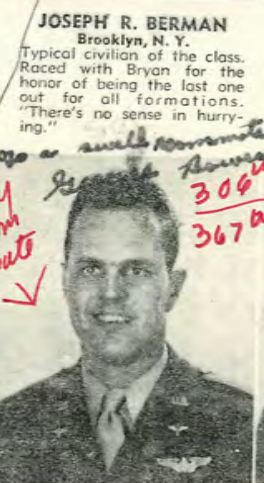

MILTON BLOOM
Los Angeles, Calif.
Los Angeles his home . . . what a lucky dog. A recent father . . . popular in the barracks. Had two cars. Insists he is not related to Hyman.

JOHN BODNARUK
Spring Valley, N. Y.
A former bank clerk, smiling Johnny made friends at VAAF. A camera fiend who snapped all the stars at An rowhead.

RALPH E. BORDNER
Belvidere, Illinois
Bel school in Illinois

GEORGE H. BOWER, JR.
Boston, Mass.

DEWITT F. BROWN
Auburn, N. Y.

FRED WILLIAM BRYAN
Jacksonville, Florida

JAMES DRAPER BURKE

DENNIS ALBERT BYRNE

ROBERT C. CAMPBELL