

Gives His Diary to Yale

S-Sgt. Irving J. Mills, 25, of 33 Coleman street, never considered himself a top-flight writer, but the journal which he kept of his march in a prisoner of war column through Austria, is going to be preserved for posterity in the war literature collection of Yale university. (Story on Page Four).

Irving J. Mills